Pages 7-8, paragraph 3:

The WordNet database is an example of an online lexical database. The WordNet database is an online lexical reference system whose design is inspired by current psycholinguistic theories of human lexical memory. Almost 20,000 English language nouns, verbs and adjectives are organized into synonym sets, each representing one underlying concept. ~~Details of the WordNet database can be accessed from its homepage at~~ <http://www.cogsci.princeton.edu/~wn/>.
